CONVENTION IS OPENED BY CHILDREN'S PARADE

Fifteen Hundred March in Procession This Morning
COUNTY OFFICERS LEAD
Are Followed by Visiting
Delegations-- Route Over
Main Streets

Waving small conquest flags, the emblem of the Sunday school, and tiny American flags, approximately 1,500 children marched in the children's parade which marked the opening this morning of the Seventeenth Annual Washington County Sunday School Association. Sunday school children from various parts of the Monongahela valley, and from all the Protestant Sunday Schools of Charleroi were in line. It was a most impressive and inspiring sight.

Chief Marshal J. W. Manon and his aides marshaled the parade along Washington avenue north of Second street. At 9:45 promptly the line moved. It was led by Chief of Police C. W. Albright and Patrolmen Gus Brikner and James Murphy. Following them was the Charleroi Italian band, County Sunday School officers and district officers were next in line, then the happy children. Little tots not much more than able to walk, each with his flag and the older children, even those of 16 years and more marched in line. Some mothers and big sisters carrying infants proudly marched with the rest.

The route of parade was north along Washington avenue to Seventh street, down Seventh street to McKean avenue, up McKean avenue to Third street, up Third and thence on Fallowfield avenue to the convention tent. The parade included Sunday Schools from Monongahela, Donora, Monessen, Belle Vernon, Speers, Roscoe, Ebenezzer and others of the Charleroi district, then the Charleroi Sunday schools, with the First Baptist leading and the Washington Avenue Presbyterian, French Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, Christian and St. James A. M. E. Children of the Monessen Sunday schools were conveyed in wagon and motor vehicles.

Will Preach to Arcanums

Rev. C. P. Bastian to be in Charge of Services at Lutheran Church

A Royal Arcanum service will be held on Sunday evening, June 23, the 35th anniversary of the founding of the order in the Christ Lutheran church, corner Sixth street and Washington avenue. Rev. C. P. Bastian, the pastor of the church who will deliver the address is a member of Muncy Lodge No. 554.

An invitation is extended to all Arcanum members and their friends to attend this service. Members of the order will assemble at the Royal Arcanum Lodge room at 6:45 p. m. and march to the church in a body. A special program has been arranged for this service.

PUTS ON HOLIDAY ATTIRE

STREETS WELL CLEANED

Charleroi is in gala attire today, in honor of the seventeenth annual convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opens its two-day session here today. Nearly all of the business places and many residences are gay with flags and bunting, and there is a general holiday atmosphere prevalent. The streets are thronged with strangers, the predominating elements of which is young and pretty girls, and each incoming train and street car is constantly adding to the quota.

Early this morning delegates and visitors began to arrive. These were met at the trains and street car corners by members of Company E, Washington Avenue Boys' Brigade who in the capacity of pages, escorted the delegates to the registration bureau at the First Christian Church on Fallowfield avenue, where they registered and were assigned to places of entertainment.

There are comparatively few home in Charleroi that are not entertaining delegates or friends who are in attendance at the convention. The most of the churches interested are serving meals either in their Sunday school rooms and basements or in convenient places secured for the occasion. More delegates and visitors are expected this evening and tomorrow, and the entertaining facilities are likely to be taxed to their utmost before the convention ends.

Up until noon over 300 delegates were present and registered. Under

ANOTHER VICTORY— CLAIMED BY TAFT

National Convention Seats Administration Delegates--Things Looking Squally for Col. Roosevelt

Yesterday's session of the Republican National convention in Chicago resulted in a second defeat for the Roosevelt forces, when by a vote of 504 to 510 the Colonel's proposition to refuse contested Taft delegates a vote on preliminary matters was defeated and laid on the table. His plan for substituting Roosevelt delegates for Taft delegates was then referred to the credentials committee. Following is a summary of the second day's proceedings of the convention:

Convened presumably at 11 o'clock. In reality the gavel fell at 11:15. Real business 15 minutes later.

Hadley, of Missouri, resumed his fight to replace 78 so-called steam roller delegates (with Roosevelt delegates).

Argument pro and con went on. It was the fight started by the discontented men yesterday, who claim that they have been cheated.

Two claims were made by the Hadley (Roosevelt) forces:

That 78 delegates seated by the national committee should be replaced by Roosevelt delegates and that the delegates in question on the floor should not be allowed to vote on the controversy.

The test came on Watson's motion to table Deener's motion to refer the matter to the credentials committee. Them motion to table the motion was

Men's Parade Tomorrow Night.

Much interest is being manifested in the mammoth men's parade which will feature the Sunday school convention tomorrow evening. The parade will move promptly at 7 o'clock. It is expected that 17 bands will be present, all of which will be grouped near the Pennsylvania station and give a concert previous to the starting of the parade.

All Methodist men are requested to report at the church, corner Sixth and Lincoln at 6:30 p. m. Friday evening to form for the Parade. 273-12 carried by a vote of 564 to 310, the Taft forces winning by a majority of 54.

This meant that the contest were referred to the credentials committee as the Taft men claimed they should be.

Chairman Root ruled in favor of the Roosevelt contention that the contested delegates had no right to vote on his face of their own cases.

"No man can be permitted," said Root in his ruling, "to vote on the question of his own right to sit in the convention but the rule does not disqualify any delegate whose name is on the roll from voting for any other man's right or upon any other business pertaining to the convention as long as he retains his seat."

Roosevelt declared, following the action of the convention, that he would bolt. It is known that efforts are being made for a compromised dark horse candidate.

Roosevelt has kept away from the convention so far. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Alice Longworth and Kermit Roosevelt attended the convention Tuesday and Wednesday.

After the contested delegates were referred to the credentials committee, names of committee on credentials, resolutions, rules and permanent organizations were read.

Convention adjourned at 5:52 p. m. until noon today.

LEADING MUSICAL EVENT

One Hundred Voices Compose Choir-- Under Direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel

Harmony of the most exquisite nature, attuned to delight alike the trained musician or the everyday music lover, was rendered by the Charleroi Choral Society Wednesday evening in its first concert held in the big Sunday School convention tent at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Seventh street. The concert serving as a preliminary to the Seventeenth Annual convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opened today, was one of the most pleasing musical events ever given in this part of the Monongahela valley, and was one of the most successful. Prof. I. T. Daniel, musical director of the public schools directed the affair. One hundred voices composed the choir and between 1,000 and 1,500 persons composed the enthusiastic audience.

Technically the music was excellent. There were numbers interspersed on the program that filled and balanced it so that the comparatively small admission fee charged was slight indeed compared to the grandeur of the event. It was the occasion of the assembling of talent from Charleroi and vicinity such as the history of this town had never before known.

The first chorus number on the program was "Praise Ye The Father," Gounod's exquisite hymn of praise. The rendering of this comparatively simple composition was only a foretaste of the glories to follow. The next chorus number was "A May Morning," a duet for ladies' voices, by Denza. This merry, tuneful melody excited the greatest admiration, and won great applause.

Probably the most enjoyable chorus number of the entire program was the concluding selection of the first part, Parks' arrangement of Stephen Foster's divine melody, "Old Blar-Joe." This was the best rendering apparently and it was the only chorus that demanded partial repetition.

The second part of the program opened with a merry skit, "The Song of the Triton," by Molloy. This bit of character song seemed like an enlivening tonic and won tumultuous applause. A male chorus, "In Absence," by Dudley Buck proved a highly enjoyable rendition, its tuneful harmony pleasing tremendously.

The concluding number of the program was "The Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's Messiah. With the

MUSIC HATH CHARMS.

The most excellent concert by the Charleroi Choral society in the big Sunday school convention tent not only was a surprise to the vast audience that attended, but it reveals the possibilities in a musical way that are in store for the people of this community. The successful termination of the concert shows that we have enough musical talent here from which to derive a wide range of pleasure, if it is only developed.

American people have thus far neglected musical culture among masses, and have therefore missed one of the greatest pleasures of life. This accomplishment has been developed among the common people of many of the European countries until we find some of the greatest and best musical aggregations in nearly every small community and hamlet of the older countries. The Welsh and the German people have for centuries cultivated the art of music as a local pastime, and the singing societies and choirs of these countries have a national and worldwide reputation. These people sing and train themselves in music for the pure love of the art and the personal pleasure they derive from it, and by so doing exercise an ennobling and refining influence upon society in general.

Charleroi's Choral society has shown that can be done in this respect. All that is necessary now is co-operation and encouragement on the part of our people to develop a field that will not only add materially to the pleasures of life, but which will exercise a refining influence upon the whole community.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

The gathering of Sunday school workers within our gates today, which marks the opening of the Washington County Sunday School Convention will demonstrate to our community the scope and magnitude of the work. We all know in a general way that every community, practically has its Sunday school, but it is only in gatherings like this that the aggregate of the effort can be realized.

The annual convention of the Sunday school workers of Washington county shows that a mighty host is engaged in trying to train up the child in the way he should go.

It is in the Sunday schools throughout the length and breadth of the lands that children are taught the religious and spiritual side of life. This is usually first imparted in the homes and the home training in this respect is supplemented by the work of the Sunday schools. It is a great work and a most important one in the intellectual development of the child.
As the precepts of the Christian religion constitute the ethical conduct of human life it is important that the tenets should be firmly grounded into the intellect of the growing child.
Hence the work of the Sunday school.
This preliminary work in the ethical and religious training of the young is most important and the county convention in session in Charleroi serves to emphasize the magnitude and persistency of the effort.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It is fun decorating if you don't have to do it.

Charleroi is just as busy a convention city as Chicago ever dared be.

There is one consolation, nobody has called Charleroi the windy city.

It's a good thing for Monto Carlo that Teddy didn't visit there when he was abroad.

It is quite possible that the Democrats will think about a vice president before they get through.

Some men are so selfish that they envy their neighbor the light that comes through the window.

There is always some idle person to come in wanting to chat just at the time when you are busiest.

The fact that everybody is known by the company they keep isn't very complimentary sometimes our friends.

Our convention is what a convention ought to be and not a cross between a Congressional debate and a prize fight.

Gov. Tener has announced that he is going to shoot with the State riflemen. Just so he doesn't beat them too badly.

A humorist is a man who will reply "Yes" when asked if he is reading a book by the cheerful idiot who sees him reading.

There doesn't seem to be much difference in the time at New York and Paris. You can have a gay time at either place.

An "aviatrix" is a woman who travels about in an aeroplane. She is called by that name for a time and then referred to as "the deceased."

A bird dog belonging to a man in Mulvanedisappeared last week and the owner suspected it had been stolen.
So he put this "ad" in the paper and insisted that it be printed exactly as he wrote it: LOST OR RUN AWAY—
One liver colored bird dog called
Jim. Will show signs of hydrofobia in about three days. The dog came home the following day.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Dwight Fee, of the Canonsburg
Notes, who is representing his paper
at the Washington County Sunday School Convention here this week was an interested auditor at the concert last evening in the big convention tent by the Charleroi Choral Society. He expressed himself most enthusiastically over the rendition of the "Hallelujah Chorus," which in his opinion suggested volume and action.

In regard to music," said Mr. Fee.
"I'm a good deal like my father. The only air that he appreciates or can recognize is "Marching Through Georgia" played by a brass band.

Speaking of the efforts of W. S.
James, superintendent of the Charleroi Sunday School district, who has been the leading factor in preparing for the annual convention of the Washington

County Sunday School Association,
a colleague said:

"Mr. James has certainly misunderstood his calling. He should have been a solicitor or promoter for some large concern or interest."

"Is he a good collector?" was asked.

"Elegant. When it comes to soliciting aid and funds for anything in which he is interested, he has any Republican National campaign committee skinned a mile. He can certainly 'fry the fat out of the fire,' as they say in political circles."

Mr. James, who is superintendent of the big Macbeth-Evans Glass factory here, and a particularly busy man at all times, has been so active in preparing for the Sunday school convention here that his efforts have excited the wonder and admiration of all connected with the work.

"There's a big difference in Sunday school work now as compared with methods in vogue when I was a boy," said a middle aged man who was a delegate to the county convention here today. There was no method in teaching and no course or uniformity in lessons. Some older person undertook to 'teach,' and he or she usually made a sorry mess of it, so far as results went.

"I remember when I was about 12 years old I attended Sunday school and was in a class of about a dozen lads of my own age. The superintendent, in order to arouse interest, offered a prize to every scholar who would commit to memory 20 verses of the Bible and repeat them at the next Sunday."

"Our class all responded, but the peculiar feature of the situation was that every mother's son of us had learned and repeated the Beatitudes, as these were the shortest verses we could find anywhere in the Bible."

A traveling man in Charleroi last evening made inquiries as to the preparations and decorations that were apparent in Charleroi. When told of the coming Sunday school convention he agreed with the concert in the big convention tent, he said:

"I just hurry up with my work and attend the concert. I'm greatly interested in church work myself, and take an active interest while at home.
In my opinion that is the only way in which society can be regenerated. I always make it a point to attend a church service when on the road, as I get many new and valuable ideas in the work."

NEVER ALLOWED TO "INFORM"

Point of View of a Soldier That Is Illustrated by Youngsters in the Service.

"No more, it is such a second lieutenant in the army may know, he must never presume to inform his superior officers," remarked a captain in one of the organizations of the National Guard of the District of Columbia recently.

"I found that out long ago. Col. O.
B. Mitcham, in command of this artillery division, sent me a request for information along certain lines, and I dug out the material and wrote out a letter in reply which I thought was strictly military. I took it down to Sergeant Drew at militia headquarters.
Drew has been a post quartermaster sergeant in the islands, and has had more experience in the formality of military correspondence than any one I know of.

"Sergeant Mike looked at it one second and nearly fainted. 'Great Scott,' he gasped, 'you'd be shot at sunrise if you sent that along.'"

"I had written, 'Sir, I have the honor to inform you, and so forth.'"
"It looked good and military to me, but Sergeant Mike Drew, when he had recovered from the shock, wept on my shoulder and said:

"My boy, don't you know in the army nobody is ever allowed to inform a superior officer? You may have all the information in the world, but don't presume to inform anybody that's even one inch over you. It will get you in bad. Just change that letter so it will read, I have the honor to report."

CONCERT GIVEN AS PRELIMINARY EVENT

audience standing in respectful attention, this sublime chorus was sung. The choir did fair credit to the chorus, the sharp Hallelujahs and the rendering of the expressions of praise lending to the number its proper dignity and character.

Individual numbers characterized an featured the concert program. J.
Gordon Jones, of Pittsburg was bass soloist. His selections were greatly enjoyed.

Three home soloists made a big hit.
These were Warren Kinder, tenor, Miss Edith Abigail Crill, soprano, and Doss T. James tenor. Each of them responded to encores. Mr. Kinder sang "A Dream," by Bartlett. Miss Crill "June" by MacFadden, and Mr. James a selected number.

Ranking as one of the leading numbers on the whole program were violin solos by Miss Norma Bosson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Bosson. This talented young lady rendered as her first selection a somewhat heavy piece, the Serenade in A Major, of Franz Drda. Upon an encore she rendered with pleasing effect a tuneful arrangement with the patriotic strains of Foster's composition,
"Way Down Upon the Swamps," forming the bulk of the rendition.

"Another much enjoyed number" by a Charleroi musician was "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen," a piano solo by Miss Della Jacobs. Miss Jacobs rendered this difficult number with spirit, bringing out its best parts with good effect.

Three readers rounded out the program. They were Miss Felicie Bos-son, Miss Mathewson, of Fayette City, and Miss Mary M. Chester. The former recited an interesting sketch, telling in a delightful way the story embodied therein. Miss Chester gave "The Wooing of Burnice," from "The Sign of the Cross." Miss Mathew-son's number was "The Chariot Race from Ben Hur." Both young women did especially well. Miss Chester's selection was well adapted, and she brought out the strong dramatic parts with good effect. Miss Mathewson's reading of the exciting race described by Gen. Lew Wallace was done with the effect that people were tempted to rise in their seats to witness the chariot contest.

The success of the concert was largely due to the untiring efforts of Prof. I. T. Daniel. He labored hard from the beginning, and although hardly more than able to stand because of recent severe illness brought the chorus choir through swimmingly.
The accompanist was Miss Elizabeth Dolan, a talented young pianist, of Fayette City.

COUNTY CARRIES ON GREAT WORK

Sunday School Association
Big Factor—Embraces
243 Schools

Many people are not perhaps aware of the magnitude of the Washington County Sunday School Association, which opens its seventeenth annual convention in Charleroi today. This organization, embracing as it does the united effort of the Sunday school workers of the various Protestant churches throughout the county, constitutes a mighty force in the work of the religious training of the young as well as adults. With the increased impetus in Sunday school work of recent years was seen the necessity of co-operation and organization of forces, and today after a humble beginning Washington county in Sunday school work leads all of the counties of the State in organization and efficiency with one exception. This exception is Dauphin county, containing Harrisburg, the State capital, wherein is located the headquarters of the State Sunday School Association.

The Washington County Sunday School Association has been so extensively organized and far reaching in its efforts that today it embraces 243 schools. In these schools are 3,198 officers and teachers and an enrollment of 37,958 scholars. The association has organized the county into 18 Sunday school districts, each presided over by a complete set of officers, who are in turn governed by and are under the jurisdiction of the county organization.

Governing the county organization is an executive board composed of a president, a vice president, a field secretary, a recording secretary and a treasurer. In addition are several county superintendents of departments or organized Sunday school work. These departments are as follows: Home, elementary, teacher training, temperance, adult Bible class, and secondary division. The county superintendents are chosen from the various schools organizing and explaining the various department work of which they are at the head.

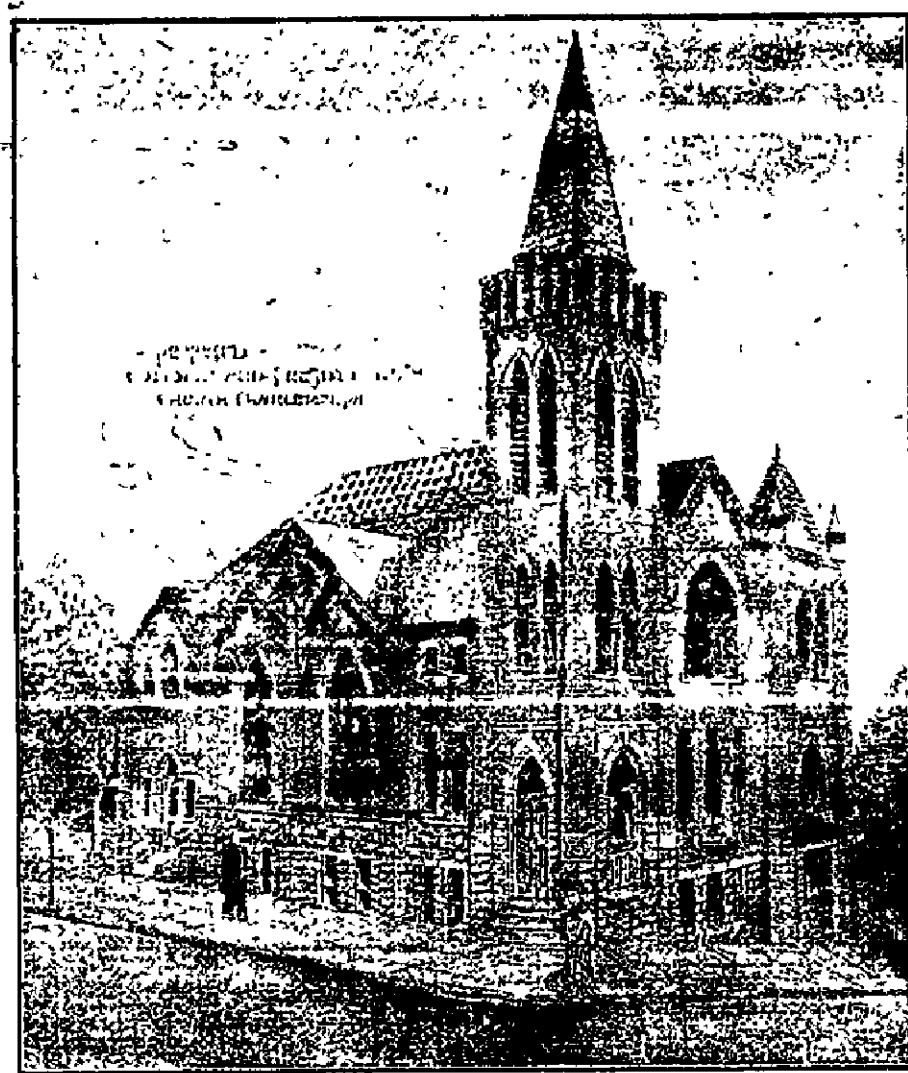

In addition to promoting the activities of organized Sunday school work the county organization employs a field secretary, who is at the service of any school in the county for help along any line of Sunday school endeavor. This field secretary is Mrs. Mary Stewart, who is an indefatigable worker in Sunday school work and who is known in this capacity from one end of the county to the other. There is not a cross road or hamlet Sunday school in Washington county that does not know Mrs. Stewart personally and her visitations and cheering words of encouragement have been the means of keeping organizations alive and arousing interest where otherwise it would have oftentimes lapsed.

A monthly paper is also published by the County Sunday School Association, which disseminates Sunday school news and ideas. The organization also holds superintendents' conferences. It keeps in touch with the latest approved Sunday school methods by expert workers and furnishes a standard of excellence for all the schools to follow. This standard of excellence is the same that has been adopted by the State Association, so that the work in this county is uniform with the standard that is designed to be put into effect in evangelizing the civilized world.

While the annual convention is designed to bring all the best Sunday school workers of the whole county together, district conventions are also held throughout the year. This brings together all the officers and workers of the district, in which an interchange of ideas and methods is experienced, as well as instruction for those who need it and encouragement to the struggling schools if such there may happen to be.

The Standard of Excellence designed for the schools is: 1, A graded school, containing an elementary division, a secondary division, and an adult division. 2, A separate primary room. 3, A cradle roll. 4, A home department. 5, A secondary division holding State certificate. 6, An adult Bible class holding State certificate. 7, A regular teachers' council. 8, A teacher training class having taken at least one examination during the year. 9, A delegate to the county convention. 10, A contribution to the county work.

By this it will be seen that the work of the Sunday schools is not of a promiscuous nature, nor imparted by inexperienced or inefficient instructors. Trained teachers and instructors is the rule, and the uniformity of the instructions and lessons constitutes a regular course as complete and thorough as a college course.

For five years past the Washington County Sunday School Association has as a county organization been in the front line position of the State in the efficiency and excellence of its work. It will make a special effort this year to retain this position, as well as to attain a number of other objects. An enrollment of 15,000 or more is one of the ultimate goals, as well as an extension of special class work. A movement is on foot to install a temperance and missionary secretary in each school, and to devote a ten minute instruction on each of these topics once a month. An effort will also be made to secure 10,000 signed temperance pledges before September 15, 1912.

The usefulness of the county organization is constantly growing and by the instruction of advanced methods the individual schools of the county are being brought up to a higher standard of ideals and consequently wider influence.

Aerate Your Boiled Water.

Drinking water that has been boiled is usually so flat and tasteless that people are apt to dislike it exceedingly, and even though the health authorities order its use, many people will run the risk of contracting typhoid fever rather than take this precaution. If boiled water is thoroughly cooled and shaken up well in a bottle half filled, it will become aerated and have the sparkle and taste of freshly drawn well water.—Housekeeper.

Revolutionized Fire Fighting.

Steam revolutionized fire fighting, as it did many other interests. It took the romance from it, and put efficiency into it. The giant steam got behind the aqueducts and forced streams through pipes and hose with great power. Firemen continued to "run with the macehead," but it was a hose reel, 19th century invention.

Game A-Plenty.

If, as an American hunter of big game has demonstrated, half-bred mastiffs possess the courage to face and fight lions, why go all the way to Africa to hunt? There are plenty of dogs at home.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

What Chalk Is.

The chalk which we use on blackboards and the chalk cliffs along England's coast are the pressed together remains of tiny bodies that once lived in the sea.

THE HOPFUL AND THE WORRY

Doctor's Advice That at First Seemed Hard-Hearted Ended a Permanent Cure.

Dr. Stephen Smith, who was 8 years old on February 19, is one of New York's distinguished surgeons, and a founder of the first nurses' training school established in this country. He is also the originator of what he calls the "peanut cure" for tuberculosis. He used it with success long before fresh-air sanitariums and sleeping bags had come into vogue.

"I happened to invent the cure in this way," he said. "A rosy-cheeked, wholesome Irish girl brought her sister to my office and asked me what I could do for her. The sister was plain, sickly, and weak, and obviously had bad lungs."

"What do you do for a living?" I asked the girl with the red cheeks.

"I tend a corner peanut stand," she said.

"And what does your sister do?" "Oh, she's too sickly to be outdoors; we don't let her work."

"Well," I said, "you buy your sister a peanut stand and keep her outdoors. That's the only thing I can recommend."

"The two girls looked horrified and departed. I did not think anything more about the case until two years later, when two big healthy rosy-cheeked girls came to my office. I recognized one as the peanut stand keeper; the other I couldn't place. But she soon introduced herself as my old patient, the sickly sister of my rosy-cheeked visitor."

"And what have you been doing to yourself?" I asked.

"Keeping a peanut stand," she said.

STILL SEEK TREASURE

PEOPLE OF SCOTCH HIGHLANDS
FIRM IN FAITH.

Tradition of Buried Wealth Lingers and Its Occasionally Made Stronger by Finds—Some Heavy Gold Ornaments Unearthed.

For centuries the search for ancient treasure has been pursued in the glens and wild places of the highlands of Scotland, and sometimes unexpected "finds" have been made. writes the duke of Argyll in Youth's Companion. For instance, a tradition that a treasure was hidden at Inverary had long been handed down. According to the legend, it would never be found except by a stranger. Generation after generation of children searched for it. If a badger made a hole in the hillside the children believed that the badger had the scent, and dug up his burrow; but no young or old badger ever came forth with bangles on its neck or its nose. The children watched every rabbit scrape or hen scrape to see if animal or bird had been attracted by anything shining under the sod or in the sand.

Then drainage was introduced. Formerly the glen was too wet to be cultivated, except on dry slopes where water could not gather, and a hand plow did all the necessary furrowing. But now red tiled pipes were put down to drain off water from flatter ground, and it was possible to sow in comparatively level places.

One pretty piece of grass land under a cliff was pointed out as a good bit for plowing. From the precipice above a great rock had fallen in long past ages. This had to be removed. The man at the plow tail was a stranger, an Englishman.

He put a bag of powder under the rock to blow it up. The explosion followed, the partly splintered rock heaved and fell on its side. Underneath where it had been was a gleam of the lost treasure! There were three beautiful, heavy gold bracelets, two of which had cups at their ends. The treasure had been found, and by a stranger, as prophesied.

Those bracelets were beautifully wrought; one of them had plain ends where the wrist was slipped through. As for the pair with the hollow cups, an old tradition was recalled which declared that no person who had committed a fault could be forgiven unless the cups of gold at the gap in the bracelets were filled with his penitential tears. There is just room for the nose, like the wrist to slip in between the golden ends, and it is possible to hold the cups under the two eyes.

Sometimes such men who have found such bracelets have looked on the gold as mere brass. In one case a number of bracelets found in an island of the Hebrides were used as drawer handles for an old pine chest of drawers. A peddler came to the cottage, found that the old chest had very heavy handles, and gave 15 shillings, or $2.25, for it. He took it away and sold the old handles for £20 each.

Such heavy ornaments as the bracelets must have been a burden to a Celtic beauty. For a warrior the gold was beaten out until it was thin, for then it was more portable and easily worked. Patterns of all kinds could be punched in it so as to give a good effect in front. We can imagine how grand an old chief from Brittany or Wales or Ireland looked with a shining yellow band on his conical helmet, a broad plate of gold on his right shoulder and on his left a long yellow mantle girl in by the belt itself.

Tramp Then Wondered.

The first hobo of the spring season arrived in East Cleveland. He looked even more dejected than the first robin and shivered quite as much. And since then there have come other robins and other tramps, all wondering why they left the southland so soon, and all appearing blue and pessimistic.

One of them—a bum, not a bird—appeared at the residence of Colonel Bush the other morning. It was Sunday and the colonel himself answered the knock. The hobo took in the well-known military bearing at once and said: "Could you please help an old soldier?"

"Regular army?" asked the colonel, laconically.

"Yessir."

"Discharged?"

"No, sir; no, sir!" the hobo assured him. "I quit of me own accord! No, sir; they didn't discharge me."

And probably that tramp is wondering yet why he was kicked off the porch.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Didn't Feaze Sambo.

Sometimes the more you get a negro cornered, the less cornered you have him. This fact, long known to many, was discovered the other day by a leather man in the Swamp.

This man suddenly awoke to the fact that certain back walls were dingy with dirt and decided they'd look much better if whitewashed.

So he summoned his old negro factotum and told him to get busy with his whitewash brush, giving special direction to put two coats on.

When the job apparently had been finished, the leather merchant inspected it and found the whitewash suspiciously thin looking.

Summoning Sambo, he said as sternly as he could: "You didn't go over those walls twice, as I told you to."

"No, sir," was the quick reply. "I ain't gone over twice, but I done put two coats in de pail, sir; two coats in de pail."—New York Evening Mail.

THE PRIMER OF SUCCESS

Do you want a position?
Do you want a girl?
Do you want to rent your furnished room?
Do you want to sell your house?
Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?

Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right. If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you want to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

Why do we give you this advice? To make business for ourselves? Certainly! To help you? Just as certainly! We are the medium between you and what you want. You just place a cent-a-word advertisement with us and we spread this advertisement before Five Thousand People Every Day. That is the market with which we bring you into touch. Isn't the advantage of being placed in touch with 5,000 people worth this insignificant sum?

Millions Die of Kidney Disease Tens of Thousands Have it Right Now and Never Suspect It

The surest and wisest plan to always keep the kidneys healthy and free from poisonous matter that leads to Bright's disease, dropsy and other serious diseases is to take a few doses of Thompson's Barosma every three months.

It is a harmless vegetable remedy put up in liquid form, is quickly assimilated and gets to the sick kidneys at once. If your kidneys are weak, inflamed or clogged up, Thompson's Barosma will put them in splendid shape again. If they are not diseased this greatest of all kidney remedies will tone up your system anyway.

M'CLINTOCK AND WASHINGTON AVES. BEAT METHODISTS

Fifth Streeters Get Eight Runs While Rigg's Folks Get But Four

Between McClintock and eight others sailing under the colors of the Washington Avenues the Methodists in the Church League were given a severe lambasting Wednesday night. It wasn't hardly a love convention either. There was plenty doing at all stages of the five innings to provoke the spectators to laughter or tears as the case might be. Results were 8 to 4. Pete Bege pitched for the Methodists and allowed the Washington Avenues to gather to themselves eleven hits, which in five innings went a long way toward the eight runs. Score:

CHARLEROI LEADS IN THIS COUNTY

Local District Occupies Conspicuous Place in Sunday School Work

Charleroi occupies a conspicuous place in the Washington County Sunday School Association. It ranks first in the points considered in the Standard of Excellence, having held this place for years. Ever since the Charleroi district acquired first place honor, Canonsburg, next highest has been fighting to get it, and last year nearly accomplished it. There has been intense rivalry between the two districts.

A number of points are considered, among them being graded school—separate primary room, cradle roll home department, secondary division holding State certificate, Adult Bible Class holding State certificate, regular teacher's council, teacher training class having at least one examination during the year, delegate to county convention and contribution to county work.

Rev. Murray C. Reiter of Canonsburg the president of the Washington County Sabbath School association presided at the opening meeting and is presiding this afternoon at the tent meeting. The convention tent was packed to the limits this morning, many standing around the edges. The walls were raised. It is estimated that between 2,000 and 2,500 persons attended the session.

Under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel a song service was held, the opening song being America. Children seated in front and the older folks in the rear part of the tent made the air ring as they sang this national anthem in concert. Rev. F. A. Richards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Charleroi said the invocation, which was followed by the Lord's prayer repeated in concert. The meeting closed.

Are Followed by Visiting
Delegations-- Route Over
Main Streets

Waving small conquest flags, the emblem of the Sunday school, and tiny American flags, approximately 1,500 children marched in the children's parade which marked the opening this morning of the Seventeenth Annual Washington County Sunday School Association. Sunday school children from various parts of the Monongahela valley, and from all the Protestant Sunday Schools of Charleroi were in line. It was a most impressive and inspiring sight.

Chief Marshal J. W. Manon and his aides marshaled the parade along Washington avenue north of Second street. At 9:45 promptly the line moved. It was led by Chief of Police C. W. Albright and Patrolmen Gus Brikner and James Murphy. Following them was the Charleroi Italian band, County Sunday School officers and district officers were next in line, then the happy children. Little tots not much more than able to walk, each with his flag and the older children, even those of 16 years and more marched in line. Some mothers and big sisters carrying infants proudly marched with the rest.

The route of parade was north along Washington avenue to Seventh street, down Seventh street to McKean avenue, up McKean avenue to Third street, up Third and thence on Fallowfield avenue to the convention tent. The parade included Sunday Schools from Monongahela, Donora, Monessen, Belle Vernon, Speers, Roscoe, Ebenezzer and others of the Charleroi district, then the Charleroi Sunday schools, with the First Baptist leading and the Washington Avenue Presbyterian, French Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, Christian and St. James A. M. E. Children of the Monessen Sunday schools were conveyed in wagon and motor vehicles.

PUTS ON HOLIDAY ATTIRE

Town Gaily Bedecked in Honor of Sunday School Event

STREETS WELL CLEANED

Charleroi is in gala attire today, in honor of the seventeenth annual convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opens its two-day session here today. Nearly all of the business places and many residences are gay with flags and bunting, and there is a general holiday atmosphere prevalent. The streets are thronged with strangers, the predominating elements of which is young and pretty girls, and each incoming train and street car is constantly adding to the quota.

Early this morning delegates and visitors began to arrive. These were met at the trains and street car corners by members of Company E, Washington Avenue Boys' Brigade who in the capacity of pages, escorted the delegates to the registration bureau at the First Christian Church on Fallowfield avenue, where they registered and were assigned to places of entertainment.

There are comparatively few home in Charleroi that are not entertaining delegates or friends who are in attendance at the convention. The most of the churches interested are serving meals either in their Sunday school rooms and basements or in convenient places secured for the occasion. More delegates and visitors are expected this evening and tomorrow, and the entertaining facilities are likely to be taxed to their utmost before the convention ends.

Up until noon over 300 delegates were present and registered. Under

ANOTHER VICTORY CLAIMED BY TAFT

National Convention Seats Administration Delegates-- Things Looking Squally for Col. Roosevelt

Yesterday's session of the Republican National convention in Chicago resulted in a second defeat for the Roosevelt forces when by a vote of 564 to 510 the Colonel's proposition to refuse contested Taft delegates a vote on preliminary matters was defeated and Taft delegates were seated.

Convened presumably at 11 o'clock. In reality the gavel fell at 11:15. Real business 15 minutes later.

Hadley, of Missouri, resumed his fight to replace the so-called steam roller delegates (with Roosevelt delegates).

Argument pro and con went on. It was the fight started by the discontented men yesterday, who claim that they have been cheated.

Two claims were made by the Hadley (Roosevelt) forces:

That 78 delegates seated by the national committee should be replaced by Roosevelt delegates and that the delegates in question on the floor should not be allowed to vote on the controversy.

The test came on Watson's motion to table Deneen's motion to refer the matter to the credentials committee. Them motion to table the motion was carried by a vote of 564 to 510, the Taft forces winning by a majority of 54.

Men's Parade Tomorrow Night.

Much interest is being manifested in the mammoth men's parade which will feature the Sunday school convention tomorrow evening. The parade will move promptly at 7 o'clock. It is expected that 17 bands will be present, all of which will be grouped near the Pennsylvania station and give a concert previous to the starting of the parade.

This meant that the contest were referred to the credentials committee as the Taft men claimed they should be.

The Roosevelt contention that the contested delegates had no right to vote on the face of their own cases.

"No man can be permitted," said Root in his ruling, "to vote on the question of his own right to sit in the convention but the rule does not disqualify any delegate whose name is on the roll from voting for any other man's right or upon any other business pertaining to the convention as long as he retains his seat."

Roosevelt declared, following the action of the convention, that he would bolt. It is known that efforts are being made for a compromised dark horse candidate.

Roosevelt has kept away from the convention so far. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Alice Longworth and Kermit Roosevelt attended the convention Tuesday and Wednesday.

After the contested delegates were referred to the credentials committee, names of committee on credentials, resolutions, rules and permanent organizations were read.

Convention adjourned at 5:32 p. m. until noon today.

One Hundred Voices Compose Choir-- Under Direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel

Harmony of the most exquisite nature, attuned to delight alike the trained musician or the everyday music lover, was rendered by the Charleroi Choral Society Wednesday evening in its first concert held in the big Sunday School convention tent at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Seventh street. The concert serving as a preliminary to the Seventeenth Annual convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opened today, was one of the most pleasing musical events ever given in this part of the Monongahela valley, and was one of the most successful. Prof. I. T. Daniel, musical director of the public schools directed the affair. One hundred voices composed the choir and between 1,000 and 1,500 persons composed the enthusiastic audience.

Technically the music was excellent. There were numbers interspersed on the program that filled and balanced it so that the comparatively small admission fee charged was slight indeed compared to the grandeur of the event. It was the occasion of the assembling of talent from Charleroi and vicinity such as the history of this town had never before known.

The first chorus number on the program was "Praise Ye The Father," Gounod's exquisite hymn of praise. The rendering of this comparatively simple composition was only a foretaste of the glories to follow. The next chorus number was "A May Morning," a duet for ladies' voices, by Denza. This merry, tuneful melody excited the greatest admiration and won great applause.

Probably the most enjoyable chorus number of the entire program was the concluding selection of the first part, Parks' arrangement of Stephen Foster's divine melody, "Old Blar-Joe." This was the best rendering number apparently and it was only chorus that demanded partial repetition.

The second part of the program opened with a merry skit, "The Song of the Triton," by Molloy. This bit of character song seemed like an enlivening tonic and won tumultuous applause. A male chorus, "In Absence," by Dudley Buck proved a highly enjoyable rendition, its tuneful harmony pleasing tremendously.

The concluding number of the program was "The Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's Messiah. With the munity the scope and magnitude of the work. We all know in a general way that every community, practically has its Sunday school, but it is only in gatherings like this that the aggregate of the effort can be realized.

The annual convention of the Sunday school workers of Washington county shows that a mighty host is engaged in trying to train up the child in the way he should go.

It is in the Sunday schools throughout the length and breadth of the lands that children are taught the religious and spiritual side of life. This is usually first imparted in the homes and the home training in this respect is supplemented by the work of the Sunday schools. It is a great work and a most important one in the intellectual development of the child.

As the precepts of the Christian religion constitute the ethical conduct of human life it is important that the tenets should be firmly grounded into the intellect of the growing child. Hence the work of the Sunday school, this preliminary work in the home and religious training of the young is most important and the county convention in session in Charleroi serves to emphasize the magnitude and persistency of the effort.

There is one consolation, nobody has called Charleroi the windy city.

The dog came home the following day.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Dwight Fee, of the Canonsburg Notes, who is representing his paper at the Washington County Sunday School Convention here this week was an interested auditor at the concert last evening in the big convention tent by the Charleroi Choral Society. He expressed himself most enthusiastically over the rendition of the "Hallelujah Chorus," which in his opinion suggested volume and action.

In regard to music," said Mr. Fee. "I'm a good deal like my father. The only air that he appreciates or can recognize is 'Marching Through Georgia' played by a brass band.

Speaking of the efforts of W. S. James, superintendent of the Charleroi Sunday School district, who has been the leading factor in preparing for the annual convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association, a colleague said:

"Mr. James has certainly mis- his calling. He should have been a solicitor or promoter for some large concern or interest."

"Is he a good collector?" was asked.

"Elegant. When it comes to soliciting aid and funds for anything in which he is interested, he has any Republican National campaign committee skinned a mile. He can certainly 'fry the fat out of the fire,' as they say in political circles."

Mr. James, who is superintendent of the big Macbeth-Evans Glass factory here, and a particularly busy man at all times, has been so active in preparing for the Sunday school convention here that his efforts have excited the wonder and admiration of all connected with the work.

"There's a big difference in Sunday school work now as compared with methods in vogue when I was a boy," said a middle aged man who was a delegate to the county convention here today. There was no method in teaching and no course or uniformity in lessons. Some older persons said that he was a sorry mess of it, so far as results went.

"I remember when I was about 12 years old I attended Sunday school and was in a class of about a dozen lads of my own age. The superintendent, in order to arouse interest, offered a prize to every scholar who would commit to memory 20 verses of the Bible and repeat them at the next Sunday."

"Our class all responded, but the peculiar feature of the situation was that every mother's son of us had learned and repeated the Beatitudes, as these were the shortest verses we could find anywhere in the Bible."

A traveling man in Charleroi last evening made inquiries as to the preparations and decorations that were apparent in Charleroi. When told of the coming Sunday school convention which opened with the concert in the big convention tent, he said:

"I just hung up with my work and after that concert, I'm greatly interested in what work myself, and am an active interest while at home. I am going to see the way in which society can be regenerated. I always make it a point to attend meetings like this when on the road, as I get many new and valuable ideas in the world."

Point of View—There is interest in the Sunday school workers in the Sunday school.

"No matter how much a second lieutenant in the army may know, he must not presume to 'talk back' his superior officer," remarked a captain in one of the organizations of the National Guard of the District of Columbia recently.

"I found that out long ago. Col. O. B. Micham, in command of this artillery division, sent me a request for information along certain lines, and I gave out the material and wrote out a letter in reply which I thought was strictly military. I took it down to 'Sergeant' Drew at militia headquarters. Drew has been a post quartermaster sergeant in the islands, and has had more experience in the formality of military correspondence than any one I know of."

"Sergeant Mike looked at it one second and nearly fainted. 'Great Scott,' he gasped, 'you'd be shot at sunrise if you sent that along.'"

"I had written, 'Sir, I have the honor to inform you, and so forth.'"

"It looked good and military to me, but Sergeant Mike Drew, when he had recovered from the shock, wept on my shoulder and said:

"My boy, don't you know in the army nobody is ever allowed to inform a superior officer? You may have all the information in the world, but don't presume to inform anybody that's even one inch over you. It will get you in bad. Just change that letter so it will read, I have the honor to report."

audience standing in respectful attention, this sublime chorus was sung. The choir did fair credit to the chorus, the sharp Hallelujahs and the rendering of the expressions of praise lending to the number its proper dignity and character.

Individual numbers characterized an featured the concert program. J. Gordon Jones, of Pittsburg was bass soloist. His selections were greatly enjoyed.

Three home soloists made a big hit. These were Warren Kinder, tenor, Miss Edith Abigail Crill, soprano, and Doss T. James tenor. Each of them responded to encores. Mr. Kinder sang "A Dream," by Bartlett. Miss Crill "June" by MacFayden, and Mr. James a selected number.

Ranking as one of the leading numbers on the whole program were the solos by Miss Norma Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Brown. This talented young lady rendered as her first selection a somewhat heavy piece, the "Swanee Song" by Franz Drell. Upon an encore she rendered with pleasing effect a tuneful arrangement with the plaintive strains of Foster's composition, "Way Down Upon the Swamps," forming the bulk of the number.

Another much enjoyed number in a Charleroi musician was "Welling Day at Trollhaugen," a piano solo by Miss Della Jacobs. Miss Jacobs rendered this difficult number with spirit, bringing out its best parts with good effect.

Three readers recited out the program. They were Miss Felicie Bosson, Miss Mathewson, of Fayette City, and Miss Mary M. Chester. The former recited an interesting sketch, telling in a delightful way the story embodied therein. Miss Chester gave "The Wooing of Bernice," from "The Sign of the Cross." Miss Mathewson's number was "The Canoe Race from Ben Hur." Both young women did especially well. Miss Chester's selection was well adapted, and she brought out the strong dramatic parts with good effect. Miss Mathewson's reading of the exciting race described by Gen. Lew Wallace was done with the effect that people were tempted to rise in their seats to witness the chariot contest.

The success of the concert was largely due to the untiring efforts of Prof. I. T. Daniel. He labored hard from the beginning, and although hardly more than able to stand because of recent severe illness brought the chorus choir through swimmingly. The accompanist was Miss Elizabeth Dolan, a talented young pianist, of Fayette City.

COUNTY CARRIES ON GREAT WORK

Sunday School Association
Big Factor--Embraces
243 Schools

Many people are not perhaps aware of the magnitude of the Washington County Sunday School Association, which opens its seventeenth annual convention in Charleroi today. This organization, embracing as it does the united effort of the Sunday school workers of the various Protestant churches throughout the county, constitutes a mighty force in the work of the religious training of the young as well as adults. With the increased impetus in Sunday school work of recent years was seen the necessity of co-operation and organization of forces, and today after a humble beginning Washington county in Sunday school work leads all of the counties of the State in organization and efficiency with one exception. This exception is Dauphin county, containing Harrisburg, the State capital, wherein is located the headquarters of the State Sunday School Association.

The Washington County Sunday School Association has been so extensively organized and far reaching in its efforts that today it embraces 243 schools. In these schools are 3,198 officers and teachers and an enrollment of 37,983 scholars. The association has organized the county into 18 Sunday school districts, each presided over by a complete set of officers, who are in turn governed by and are under the jurisdiction of the county organization.

Governing the county organization is an executive board composed of a president, a vice president, a field secretary, a recording secretary and a treasurer. In addition are several county superintendents of departments or organized Sunday school work. These departments are as follows: Home, elementary, teacher training, temperance, and music. There is a secondary division. These division superintendents are chosen from the various schools organizing and explaining the various department work of which they are at the head.

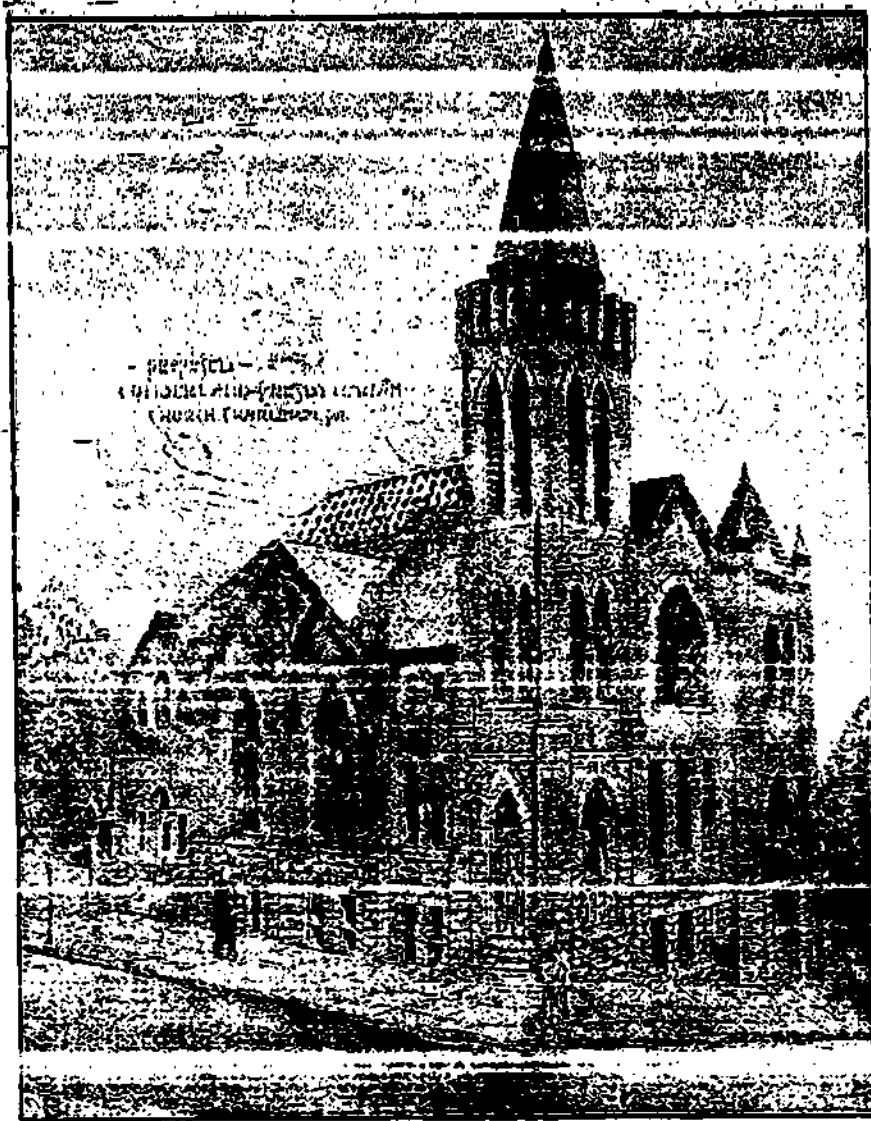

In addition to promoting the activities of organized Sunday school work the county organization employs a field secretary, who is at the service of any school in the county for help along any line of Sunday school endeavor. This field secretary is Mrs. Mary Stewart, who is an indefatigable worker in Sunday school work and who is known in this capacity from one end of the county to the other. There is not a cross road or hamlet Sunday school in Washington county that does not know Mrs. Stewart personally and her visitations and encouraging words of encouragement have been the means of keeping organizations alive and arousing interest where otherwise it would have oftentimes lapsed.

A monthly paper is also published by the County Sunday School Association, which disseminates Sunday school news and ideas. The organization also holds superintendents' conferences. It keeps in touch with the latest approved Sunday school methods by expert workers and furnishes a standard of excellence for all the schools to follow. This standard of excellence is the game that has been adopted by the State Association, so that the work in this county is uniform with the standard that is designed to be put into effect in evangelizing the civilized world.

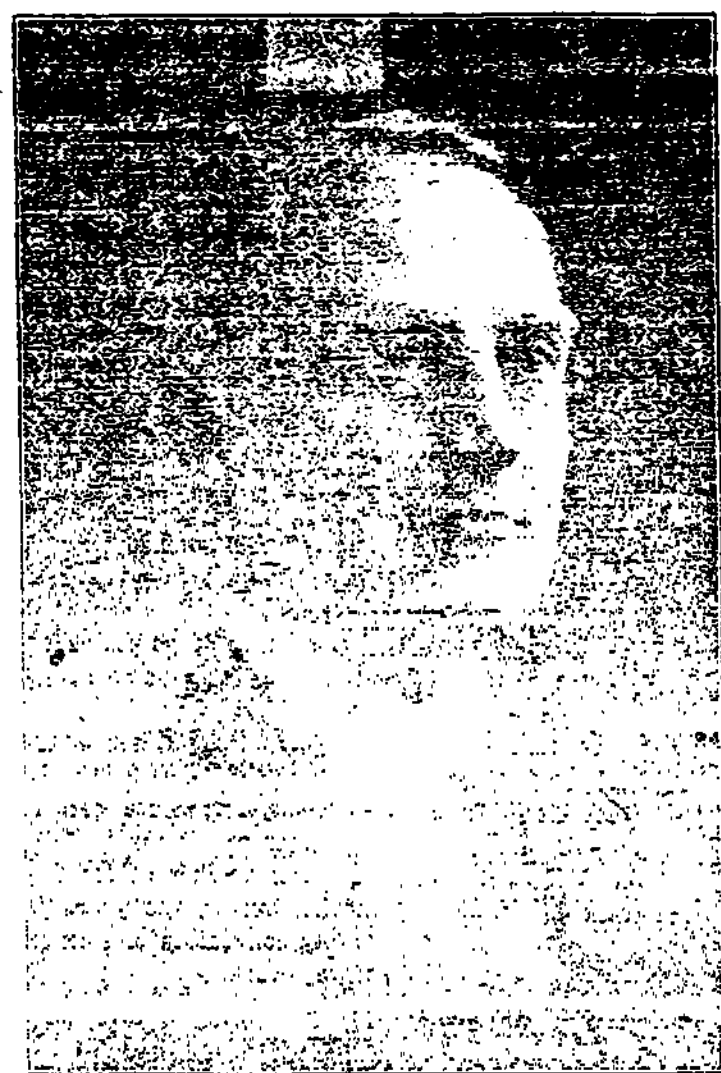

While the annual convention is designed to bring all the best Sunday School workers of the whole county together, district conventions are also held throughout the year. This brings together all the officers and workers of the district, in which an interchange of ideas and methods is experienced, as well as instruction for those who need it and encouragement to the struggling schools if such there may happen to be.

By this it can be seen that the work of the Sunday schools is not of a promiscuous nature, nor imparted by inexperienced or inefficient instructors. Trained teachers and instructors is the rule, and the uniformity of the instructions and lessons constitutes a regular course as complete and

For five years past, the Washington County Sunday School Association has as a county organization been in the front line position of the State in the efficiency and excellence of its work. It will make a special effort this year to retain this position, as well as to attain a number of other objects. An enrollment of 45,000 or more is one of the ultimate goals, as well as an extension of special class work. A movement is on foot to install a temperance and missionary secretary in each school, and to devote a ten minute instruction on each of these topics once a month. An effort will also be made to secure 10,000 signed temperance pledges before September 15, 1912.

The usefulness of the county organization is constantly growing and by the instruction of advanced methods the individual schools of the county are being brought up to a higher standard of ideals and consequently wider influence.

Aerate Your Boiled Water.

Drinking water that has been boiled is usually so flat and tasteless that people are apt to dislike it exceedingly, and even though the health authorities order its use, many people will run the risk of contracting typhoid fever rather than take this precaution. If boiled water is thoroughly cooled and shaken up well in a bottle half filled, it will become aerated and have the sparkle and taste of freshly drawn well water.—Housekeeper.

Revolutionized Fire Fighting.

Steam revolutionized fire fighting, as it did many other interests. It took the romance from it, and put efficiency into it. The giant steam got behind the aqueducts and forced streams through pipes and hose with great power. Firemen continued to "run with the machine," but it was a hose reel, 19th century invention.

Game A-Plenty.

If, as an American hunter of big game has demonstrated, half-bred mastiffs possess the courage to face and fight lions, why go all the way to Africa to hunt? There are plenty of dogs at home.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Doctors' Advice That at First Seemed Hard-Hitter, Effected a Permanent Cure.

Dr. Stephen Smith, who was 80 years old on February 19, is one of New York's distinguished surgeons, and a founder of the first nurses' training school established in this country. He is also the originator of what is known as the "peanut cure" for tuberculosis. He used it with success long before fresh-air sanitariums and sleeping bags had come into vogue.

"I happened to invent the cure in this way," he said. "A rosy-cheeked, wholesome Irish girl brought her sister to my office and asked me what I could do for her. The sister was plain, sickly, and weak, and obviously had bad lungs."

"What do you do for a living?" I asked the girl with the red cheeks.

"I tend a corner peanut stand," she said.

"And what does your sister do?"

"Oh, she's too sickly to be outdoors; we don't let her work."

"Well, I said, 'you buy your sister a peanut stand and keep her outdoors. That's the only thing I can recommend.'"

"The two girls looked horrified and departed. I did not think anything more about the case until two years later, when two big healthy rosy-cheeked girls came to my office. I recognized one as the peanut stand keeper; the other I couldn't place. But she soon introduced herself as my old patient, the sickly sister of my rosy-cheeked visitor."

"And what have you been doing to yourself?" I asked.

"Keeping a peanut stand," she said.

STILL SEEK TREASURE

PEOPLE OF SCOTCH HIGHLANDS
FIRM IN FAITH.

Tradition of Buried Wealth Lingers and is Occasionally Made Stronger by Finds—Some Heavy Gold Ornaments Unearthed.

For centuries the search for ancient treasure has been pursued in the glens and wild places of the highlands of Scotland, and sometimes unexpected "finds" have been made, writes the duke of Argyll in Youth's Companion. For instance, a tradition that a treasure was hidden at Inverary had long been handed down. According to the legend, it would never be found except by a stranger. Generation after generation of children searched for it. If a badger made a hole in the hillside the children believed that the badger had the scent, and dug up his burrow; but no young or old badger ever came forth with bangles on its neck or its nose. The children watched every rabbit scrape or hen scrape to see if animal or bird had been attracted by anything shining under the sod or in the sand.

Then a stranger was introduced. Formerly the glen was too wet to be cultivated, except on dry slopes where water could not gather, and a hand plow did all the necessary furrowing. But now red tiled pipes were put down to drain off water from flatter ground, and it was possible to sow in comparatively level places.

One pretty piece of grass land under a cliff was pointed out as a good bit for plowing. From the precipice above a great rock had fallen in long past ages. This had to be removed. The man at the plow tail was a stranger, an Englishman.

He put a bag of powder under the rock to blow it up. The explosion followed, the partly splintered rock heaved and fell on its side. Underneath where it had been was a gleam of the lost treasure! There were three beautiful, heavy gold bracelets, two of which had cups at their ends. The treasure had been found, and by a "stranger," as prophesied.

Those bracelets were beautifully wrought: one of them had plain ends where the wrist was slipped through. As for the pair with the hollow cups, an old tradition was recalled which declared that no person who had committed a fault could be forgiven unless the cups of gold at the top in the bracelet were filled with his penitential tears. There is just room for the wrist like the wrist to slip in between the golden cups, and it is possible to hold the cups under the two eyes.

Some of the old men who have found such bracelets have looked on the gold as a curse. In one case a number of bracelets found in an island of the Hebrides were used as drawer handles for an old pine chest of drawers. A pedlar came to the cottage, found that the old chest had very heavy handles, and gave 15 shillings for them. He took it away and sold the old handles for 22s. each.

Such heavy ornaments as the bracelets must have been a burden to a Celtic beauty. For a warrior the gold was beaten out until it was thin, for then it was more portable and easily worked. Patterns of all kinds could be punched in it as to give a good effect in front. We can imagine how grand an old chief from Bannagh or Wales or Ireland looked with a shining yellow band on his conical helmet, a broad plate of gold on his right shoulder and on his left a long yellow mantle girt in by the belt itself.

Tramp Then Wondered.

The first hobo of the spring season arrived in East Cleveland. He looked even more dejected than the first robin and shivered quite as much. And since then there have come other robins and other tramps, all wondering why they left the southland so soon, and all appearing blue and pessimistic.

One of them—a bum, not a bird—appeared at the residence of Colonel Bush the other morning. It was Sunday and the colonel himself answered the knock. The hobo took in the well-known military bearing at once and said: "Could you please help an old soldier?"

"Regular army?" asked the colonel, laconically.

"Yessir."

"Discharged?"

"No, sir; no, sir!" the hobo assured him. "I quit of me own accord! No, sir; they didn't discharge me."

And probably that tramp is wondering yet why he was kicked off the porch.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Didn't Feaze Sambo.

Sometimes the more you get a negro cornered, the less cornered you have him. This fact, long known to many, was discovered the other day by a leather man in the Swamp.

This man suddenly awoke to the fact that certain back walls were dingy with dirt and decided they'd look much better if whitewashed.

So he summoned his old negro factotum and told him to get busy with his whitewash brush, giving special direction to put two coats on.

When the job apparently had been finished, the leather merchant inspected it and found the whitewash suspiciously thin looking.

Summoning Sambo, he said as sternly as he could: "You didn't go over those walls twice, as I told you to."

"No, sir," was the quick reply. "I ain't gone over twice, but I done put two coats in de pail, sir; two coats in de pail."—New York Evening Mail.

Do you want to sell your house?
Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?
Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right. If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you want to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

Millions Die of Kidney Disease Tens Of Thousands Have it Right Now and Never Suspect it

The surest and wisest plan to always keep the kidneys healthy, and free from poisonous matter that leads to Bright's disease, dropsy and other serious diseases is to take a few doses of Thompson's Barosma every three months.

It is a harmless vegetable remedy put up in liquid form, is quickly assimilated and gets to the sick kidneys at once. If your kidneys are weak, inflamed or clogged up, Thompson's Barosma will put them in splendid shape again. If they are not diseased this greatest of all kidney remedies will tone up your system anyway.

McCLINTOCK AND WASHINGTON AVES. BEAT METHODISTS

Fifth Streeters Get Eight Runs While Rigg's Folks Get But Four

Between McClintock and eight others sailing under the colors of the Washington Avenues the Methodists in the Church League were given a severe lambasting Wednesday night. It wasn't hardly a love convention either. There was plenty doing at all stages of the five innings to provoke the spectators to laughter or tears as the case might be. Results were 8 to 4. Pete Bege pitched for the Methodists and allowed the Washington Avenues to gather to themselves eleven hits, which in five innings went a long ways toward the eight runs. Score:

Local District Occupies Conspicuous Place in Sunday School Work

Charleroi occupies a conspicuous place in the Washington County Sunday School Association. It ranks first in the points considered in the Standard of Excellence, having held this place for years. Ever since the Charleroi district acquired first place honor. Canonsburg, next highest has been fighting to get it, and last year nearly accomplished it. There has been intense rivalry between the two districts.

A number of points are considered, among them being graded schools, separate primary room, cradle roll home department, secondary division holding State certificate, Adult Bible Class holding State certificate, regular teacher's council, teacher training class having at least one examination during the year, delegate to county convention and contribution to county work.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

afraid to be tied to their mother's apron strings that he said being a safe anchoring place. His talk was calculated to please the children, and was illustrated with drawings and illustrations.

Rev. Murray C. Reiter of Canonsburg the president of the Washington County Sabbath School association presided at the opening meeting and is presiding this afternoon at the tent meeting. The convention tent is packed to the limits this morning, many standing around the edges. The walls were raised. It is estimated that between 2,000 and 2,500 persons attended the session.

Under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel a song service was held, the opening song being America. Children seated part of the tent made the air ring as they sang this national anthem in concert. Rev. F. A. Richards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Charleroi said the invocation, which was followed by the Lord's prayer repeated in concert. The meeting closed ed by a song "The Fight is On" sung by the Coal Centre M. L. Sunday School.

The chief feature of this afternoon meeting is the addresses of welcome and the response and the Organized Adult Bible conference.
